

The Prefix Trans-

(Definition, Origin, 52 Real Examples)

The Prefix Trans- Meaning

The Prefix trans- means across or beyond in adjectives.

Transatlantic = Across the Atlantic Ocean.

- The luxury cruise ship made its first transatlantic Journey in 2009.
- The airline just added three new transatlantic routes to its winter schedule.

Transcontinental = Across a continent.

- The transcontinental Railway is its important part of the economy. It allows goods to be shipped easily to distant locations.
- Environmental activists are trying to stop the gas company from building a transcontinental pipeline through protected areas.

The Prefix trans- means into another place or state in verbs.

Transplant = To someone's organ, skin, etc. and put it into or onto another person

- New medical technology allows doctors to transplant organs into older patients with great success.
- Surgeons successfully transplanted a new kidney into Murray last week. He is no longer diabetic.

Transform = To change the form of something

- The real estate company transformed an old factory into modern apartments and condominiums.
- I just bought my son a toy car that transforms into a robot. He loves it.

Prefix trans- Oxford Learner's Dictionaries

Prefix TRANS- word origin

This prefix comes from the Latin word trans which means across.

The Word Trans As An Adjective

The adjective trans means having a gender identity that does not match the sex a person was said to have at birth

- Elliot Page is a Canadian trans actor. He is known for movies like Juno and Inception and the popular Netflix show The Umbrella Academy.

The Prefix Trans- (Verbs)

transact - to do business with a person or an organization

- They don't teach you how to transact with customers in Business School. This is something you learn from experience.

transcend - to be or go beyond the usual limits of something

- His paintings transcended any of the work being done by other painters in his time.

transcribe - to record thoughts, speech or data in a written form, or in a different written form from the original

- They are creating software that can transcribe voice messages from your phone.

transfer - 1. to move from one place to another; to move something/somebody from one place to another

- I transferred $2,000 from my savings account to my chequing account.

2. to move from one job, school, situation, etc. to another; to arrange for somebody to move

- My father transferred a lot for his job so my family was always moving. I went to 9 different schools in my life before I started University.

3. to copy information, music, an idea, etc. from one method of recording or presenting it to another; to be recorded or presented in a different way

- I transferred all the important data onto a USB drive for insurance.

4. to officially arrange for something to belong to somebody else or for somebody else to control something

- He transferred ownership of the property to his son.

5. to send a phone call that you have received to another phone number

- My call was transferred to human resources, and I've been on hold for 15 minutes.

transfigure - to change the appearance of a person or thing so that they look more beautiful

- The early morning sunshine transfigured her face into an angel.

transfix - to make somebody unable to move because they are afraid, surprised, etc.

- I saw her step out of the limo I was transfixed by her beauty.

transform - 1. to change the form of something; to change in form

- The real estate company transformed an old factory into modern apartments and condominiums.

2. to completely change the appearance or character of something/somebody, especially so that it is better; to completely change in appearance or character

- The experience transformed Steven's life.

transfuse - to put new blood into the body of a person or an animal

- The doctor needed to transfuse new blood into the patient after the accident.

transgress - to go beyond the limit of what is morally or legally acceptable

- The primitive people punished anyone who transgressed against their Moon God.

transit - to pass across or through an area

- Hundreds of planes transit in and out of the terminal every day.

translate - 1. to express the meaning of speech or writing in a different language

- They asked me to translate the message into English.

transmit - to send an electronic signal, radio or television broadcast, etc.

- The signal was being transmitted from a satellite in space.

transmogrify - to change somebody/something completely, especially in a surprising way

*This is not a common word at all! I included it in this list because of my favorite newspaper comic strip 'Calvin and Hobbes.' It's a comic strip about a boy (Calvin) and his stuffed tiger (Hobbes) who comes to life in Calvin's imagination. They built a machine called a transmogrifier with a cardboard box. The machine could turn one thing into another in Calvin's imagination.

Where people come to learn real English - www.WorldEnglishBlog.com - Helpful Resources

transmute - to change, or make something change, into something different

- At one time people tried to transmute lead into gold. This is impossible.

transpire - (not usually used in the progressive tenses) 1. transpire that... if it transpires that something has happened or is true, it is known or has been shown to be true

- What he told the police, it later transpired, was a lie.

2. [intransitive] to happen

- I arrive at the airport 3 hours before my flight so I could check my bags. What transpired next is unbelievable.

transplant - 1. to take an organ, skin, etc. from one person, animal, part of the body, etc. and put it into or onto another

- Surgeons successfully transplanted a new kidney into Murray last week. He is no longer diabetic.

2. to move a growing plant and plant it somewhere else

- I transplanted some roses from my back garden to the flower pot in front of my house.

transport - 1. to take something/somebody from one place to another in a vehicle

- This train transports seeds and grain across the country.

2. to make somebody feel that they are in a different place, time or situation

- I loved to read when I was in elementary school. The books transported me to many different magical worlds.

transpose - 1. to change the order of two or more things

- A few of the words were transposed so we have to print the document again.

2. to move or change something to a different place or environment or into a different form

- The director reimagined the story and transposed the characters from the 17th century to modern times.

The Prefix Trans- (Adjectives)

transatlantic - crossing the Atlantic Ocean

- The luxury cruise ship made its first transatlantic Journey in 2009.

Did you know? Five hundred years before Columbus, a daring band of Vikings led by Leif Eriksson crossed the Atlantic Ocean to North America and established a settlement. Vikings is the modern name given to seafaring people originally from Scandinavia (present-day Denmark, Norway, and Sweden)

transcendent - going beyond the usual limits; extremely great

- Carol is an excellent chef. Her cooking skills are transcendent.

transcontinental - crossing a continent

- The transcontinental Railway is its important part of the economy. It allows goods to be shipped easily to distant locations.

transferable - that can be moved from one place, person or use to another

- I'm sorry, this coupon is from another store. It's not transferable.

*The opposite is often written as the compound adjective non-transferable.

- I'm sorry, this coupon is from another store. It's non-transferable.

<https://worldenglishblog.com/no-none-and-non/>

transgender - describing or relating to people whose gender identity does not match the sex they were said to have at birth *See also transsexual

- The university is installing transgender bathrooms.
- transient - 1. continuing for only a short time
- The cherry tree blossoms bloom for just a few weeks before they're gone. It reminds us of the transient nature of all things.
2. staying or working in a place for only a short time, before moving on
- Farmers sometimes hire transient workers to help them pick their crops in the fall.
- transitional - connected with the process of changing from one state or condition to another
- The citizens created a transitional government until a new mayor could be elected.
- transitive - (grammar) (of verbs) used with a direct object
- RAISE is a transitive verb so it must be followed directly by an object.
<https://worldenglishblog.com/transitive-and-intransitive-verbs/>
- transitory - continuing for only a short time
- All feelings, good and bad, are transitory. You should appreciate the happy times when they are here and understand that the sad times will eventually pass.
- transpacific - crossing or extending across the Pacific Ocean
- Transpacific airfare increases during typhoon season.
- transparent - allowing you to see through it
- The smartphone has a transparent back panel so you can see the parts inside.
- transverse - in a position or direction that is at an angle of 90° to something else
- The surgeon made a transverse below the patient's ribcage.

The Prefix Trans- (Nouns)

Most/ all of the nouns in this list come from adding a suffix to the end of the verb form.

transform	-ation	transformation
transcend	-ence	transcendence
transcribe	-ption	transcription
transition	-al	transitional

For more examples of the suffix -al check out my great blog post here>> How do you use the suffix -al? \(Over 85 Common Examples\)

transaction - a piece of business that is done between people, especially an act of buying or selling

- The manager's company credit card had a few suspicious transactions last month.

transcendence - the ability to go beyond the usual limits; existence or experience beyond the normal or physical level

- Victoria experienced a kind of transcendence during her spiritual retreat in the mountains. She felt her spirit leave her body at one point.

transcript - a written or printed copy of words that have been spoken

- I couldn't attend the meeting so my secretary emailed me a transcript of what was talked about.

transference - the process of moving something from one place, person or use to another

Where people come to learn real English - www.WorldEnglishBlog.com - Helpful Resources

- In cold weather survival situations people need to stay close together. The transference of heat can help keep people warm and alive.

transformation - a complete change in somebody/something

- Over the summer Jim grew 11 cm, gained 4 kg of muscle and started to grow a mustache. He had a complete transformation.

transformer - a device for reducing or increasing the voltage of an electric power supply, usually to allow a particular piece of electrical equipment to be used

- Repairmen came to fix the damaged transformer and bring electricity back to the neighborhood.

transfusion - the process of putting new blood into the body of a person or an animal

- Blood transfusions save thousands of lives every year.

transgression - an act that goes beyond the limits of what is morally or legally acceptable

- People were growing tired of Max's constant transgressions.

transgressor - a person who goes beyond the limit of what is morally or legally acceptable

- Sometimes society's worst transgressors are just people who need help and support.

transient - a person who stays or works in a place for only a short time, before moving on

- Farmers sometimes hire foreign workers and other transients to help them pick their crops in the fall.

transistor - a small electronic device used in computers, radios, televisions, etc. for controlling an electric current as it passes along a circuit

- My old radio stopped working last week. I need to buy a new transistor.

transit - 1. the process of being moved or carried from one place to another

- I think Amazon needs to hire more responsible drivers. Many products get damaged in transit.

Here are 4 compound words with TRANSIT

mass transit noun

[uncountable] (North American English)

the system of public transport in cities, including the subway, buses, etc.

rapid transit noun

[uncountable] (especially North American English)

the system of fast public transport in cities, especially the subway transit camp noun

a camp that provides temporary accommodation for refugees

public transit noun

[uncountable] (North American English) *The same as mass transit

the system of public transport in cities, including the subway, buses, etc.

transition - 1. the process or a period of changing from one state or condition to another

- Some students have a hard time making the transition from school to full-time work.

2. the process of starting to live your life as a person of a different sex, to match your gender identity

- Allen's family was supportive of his transition to become Allison.

Where people come to learn real English - www.WorldEnglishBlog.com - Helpful Resources

translation - the process of changing something that is written or spoken into another language

- I laugh when I see strange English translations on Japanese signs, but I know they're trying. The signs are there to help foreigners in Japan so I appreciate that.

translator - a person who translates writing or speech into a different language, especially as a job

- My friend Paul works as a French translator for a big European trading company.

transmission - the act or process of passing something from one person, place or thing to another

- Many places set up social distancing guidelines to limit the transmission of the virus.

transmitter - a piece of equipment used for sending electronic signals, especially radio or television signals

- My grandfather has an old radio transmitter from when he served in the army in the 1960s. It still works but I think there's no one who can pick up the signal. The technology is too old.

transparency - 1. the quality of something, such as a situation or an argument, that makes it easy to understand

- Citizens demand transparency from the government. I want to see what is happening very clearly.

2. the quality of something, such as glass, that allows you to see through it

- The glass on the windows is frosted to prevent people from seeing inside. There is very little transparency in the glass.

transplant - 1. a medical operation in which a damaged organ, etc. is replaced with one from another person

- Kelly went to the hospital for a kidney transplant.

transponder - a device that receives a radio signal and then sends out a different signal in reply

- The bank employee slipped a transponder into the bag of money so they could track it after the robbers took it from a building.

transport - [many] 1. a system for carrying people or goods from one place to another using vehicles, roads, etc.

- Countries that produce oil need a good transport system to sell to the global market.

2. [uncountable] a vehicle or method of travel

- In Japan, my bicycle is my main mode of transport. I ride it everywhere.

3. the activity or business of carrying goods from one place to another using trucks, trains, etc.

- Company invested in some modern trucks to reduce the number of products damaged during transport.

transvestite - a person, especially a man, who enjoys dressing in clothes usually worn by the opposite sex

- The show had many transvestite performers playing the roles of some famous female singers and actresses.

